DNWP IS A FINNISH HIGH-TECH BRAND driven by the product philosophy to design devices that beat records in value. DNWP devices provide true multiservice capabilities to support a wide range of voice and data interfaces and a variety of connectivity scenarios making them one of the most reliable and sustainable critical communications solutions on the market.

Industrial customers have relied on our solutions throughout decades. DNWP started out in 2012 as a spin-off from the telecom giant Nokia, where dedicated networks formed the core of the business as early as the 80's. We're proud to be a first choice of electricity, oil, gas, and water suppliers; airport, seaport, railway, and highway operators; as well as public safety, security, military, and defense professionals across the globe.

DNWP is among the leading suppliers of critical communications devices. DNWP brand is available on five continents enabled by our value added reseller network. 'Til today, our solutions have been selected by more than 500 customers worldwide with more than 500,000 delivered devices.
